Lithia Springs; Old Chautauquas Spot

Very few people today even know the meaning of the word "chautauqua" anymore, but to the residents of this area and the nation in the 1880's and 1890's, Chautauqua Days meant a festive occasion.

One of the most famous chautauqua centers was at Lithia Springs. Here during the summer, visitors from far and wide came to enjoy lecturers, statesmen, speakers, teachers and other entertainers that were featured on the circuit.

The Piedmont Chautauqua was located and built in Lithia about 1888 and was open each year during July and August. It was said to be one of the best chautauquas to be found anywhere in the United States.

During Lithia's hey-day as a chautauqua site, the Sweetwater Park Hotel, a big, rambling, frame building of some 400 rooms was one of the centers of "culture" where many famous persons such as Theodore Roosevelt, and James Whitcomb Riley could be found on the guest list from time to time. The hotel was located on a 16-acre tract in what is now the center of Lithia Springs. It was built by a Mr. E. W. Marsh of Atlanta.

Lithia Springs and its environs in those days must have been an inspiring sight, for an 1890 writer for "Chautauqua Camp and Fireside," seeing the place for the first time, wrote, "the flowers, fountains, domes, towers, and shining walls seem like a vision of the Alhambra."

Continuing, he said "flower beds line the winding walks and straight ahead is a great Moorish dome, rising over a mighty structure."

The "mighty structure," the old hotel, burned to the ground on January 12, 1912, years after it ceased to be used as a gathering place for the famous.

Lithia Springs in the 1890's was well-known as a "spa." It is said that people came from all over the country "to escape the heat of the city," to camp out on the chautauqua ground, where there were also a number of cottages in addition to the hotel, and long Sweetwater creek, only a short distance away.

"The first impression is charming and the impression deepens, the more one sees of the southern chautauqua," is the way the 1890 writer described Lithia Springs. "Everything has been done on a lavish scale and the result is one of the finest places of its kind in America."

To accommodate the visitors who desired to visit the famous "springs" themselves and to drink the mineral water, a narrow gauge railroad ran from the old Southern Railroad depot to about where the present golf course is located on the west side of Highway 78, about one and one-half miles east of the town of Lithia Springs.

We Are Together

At the end of the 74-75 school year, students prepared themselves for the creation of two high schools in Douglas County. However, as the summer progressed county officials announced that LSHS would not be finished. The school year would begin with one quarter of double sessions.

Many activities occurred during this last quarter together that presented a picture of unity between the students bodies of each school. One football team was cheered on to the sub-region championship. The Douglasville Centennial was celebrated with a field day where all students participated. Also, Senior night brought the '76 graduates together in one group to honor their position.

Although under one roof, we operated as two separate schools. A full faculty was employed for each session. Crowded conditions were evident particularly in the administration offices, where double everything was required.

Lithia Springs High School slowly began to emerge and create their own identity. Students began calling themselves Lions instead of Tigers, and gradually we began to break our link with DCHS.

Construction supervisors study plans to hasten the completion of the necessary facilities for the opening.

Loaded down with material for the English Department, Andy Shival helps teachers move from DCHS.

Ready to move, Frank Corolla and other students lend a hand during their Thanksgiving vacation.

The Chain Rebuilds

Bad road conditions cause many cars like this one to slide in the ditch.

After three weeks of cold lunches, students react unfavorably.

With the cafeteria's limited menu many students like Kim Leach, choose to bring their own lunches.

The Concert Choir performs before the student body during the Christmas assembly.

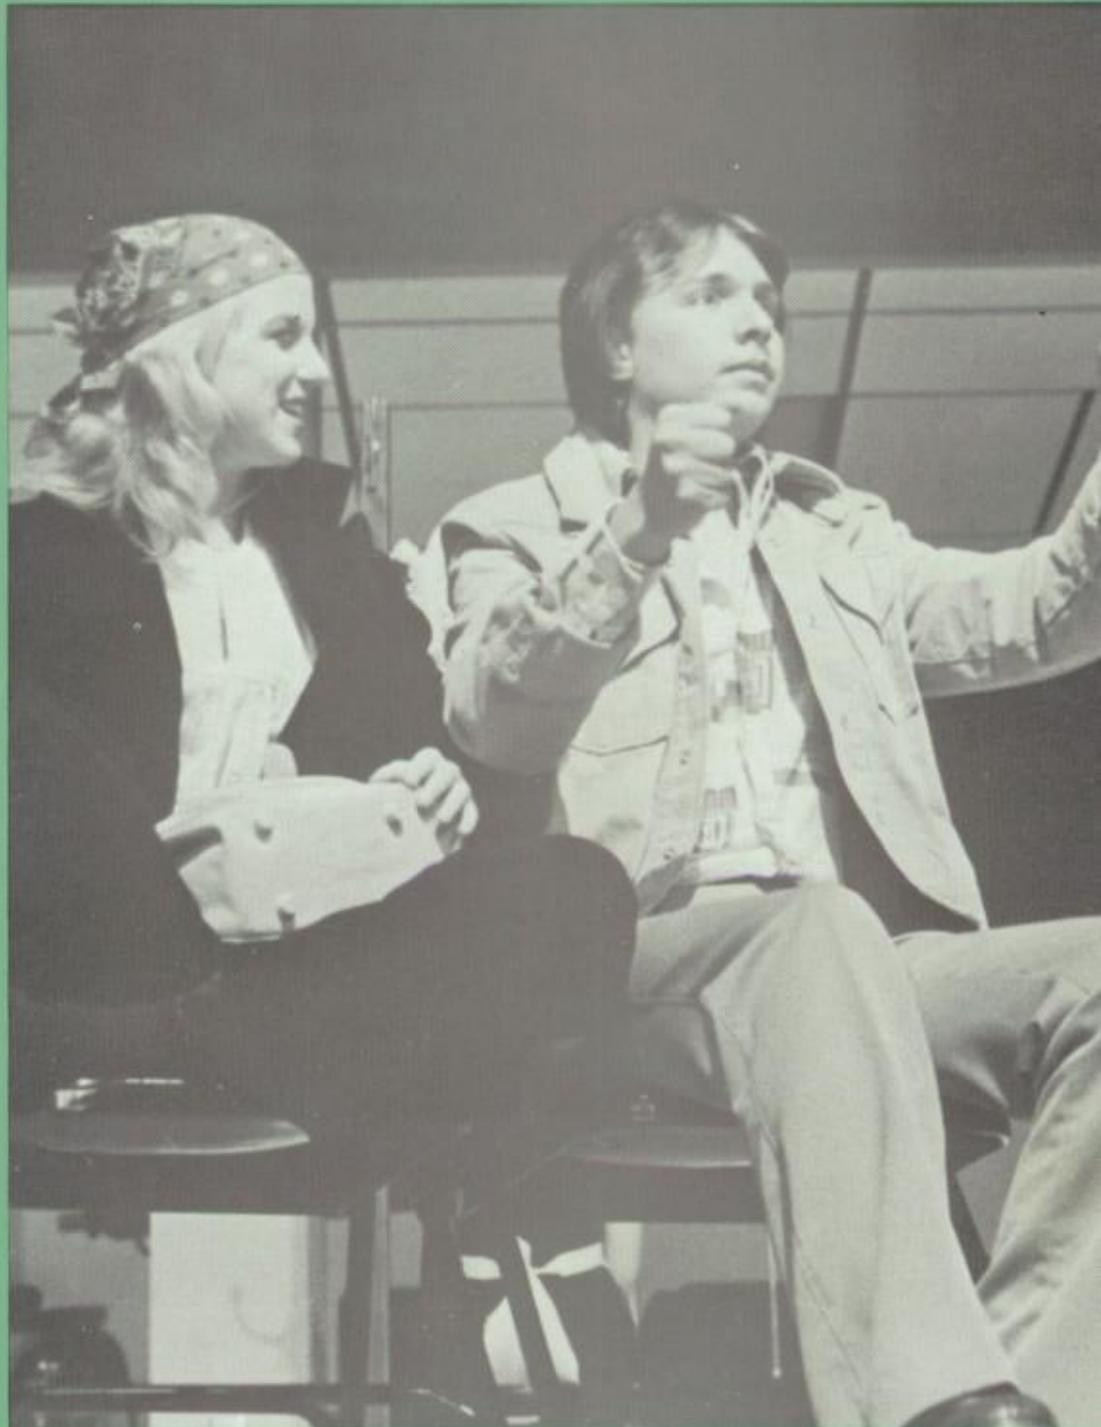

Seniors stand as they try to out yell the other classes in the competition cheer.

December 1 saw students walking the halls of LSHS for the first time. They were joined by the construction workers who remained to complete the school. Hardships that began as a novelty soon became causes for complaint. Cold lunches everyday, cars stuck in the mud, lights going out, and unfinished facilities were among the biggest annoyances.

Once established though, the students' spirit was seen in the improved quality of pep rallies. Anxious to prove their identity as a new school, groups in the student body worked hard in the region competitions. The Drama Club brought our first trophy with their one act play, The Hitchhiker. The basketball team then won the Christmas Tournament held at Harleson County High School.

The faculty and administration were not to be topped. They showed their trust and spirit by scheduling a special Christmas assembly with refreshments.

With each of these events, we added a link that represented the traditions that we had begun. Slowly we formed our chain.

Portraying a hitchhiker, Angela Hansard is picked up by Ronald (Ricky Clark).

A December 7 deadline combined with moving requires Beth Veronneau to carry on under make shift conditions.

Excited Douglas County offense signals a touchdown with the referee.

The Tigers got off to a slow start in the 1975 season. After three losses to Forest Park, Central of Macon and Dothan, Alabama, the Tigers managed to tie arch rival South Cobb. This was the incentive for a turn around. The team won their next six games to capture the 5-AAA south crown. The Tigers then journeyed to Rome to play Rossville, who won the 5-AAA north title by defeating top ranked Wheeler. Even though they tied Rossville, the Tigers won the game on the penetration rule, 9-7. The football season ended with the defeat by 10th ranked Douglass of Atlanta in the first round of the state play-offs.

For a team many did not expect to be a strong contender, the Lions were 3rd in the region. The team received a break when John Godwin transferred from Carrollton. He and Jeff Kinney were quoted to be the "Dynamic Duo". Also a great deal of credit to those on the bench. The spirit and talent of those on the bench and those on the court produced a winning team.

This past summer the varsity cheerleaders attended cheerleading camp at Tift College. During their stay they received two blue ribbons, one red ribbon and a spirit stick. With the experience gained at camp, they prepared to cheer for the year.

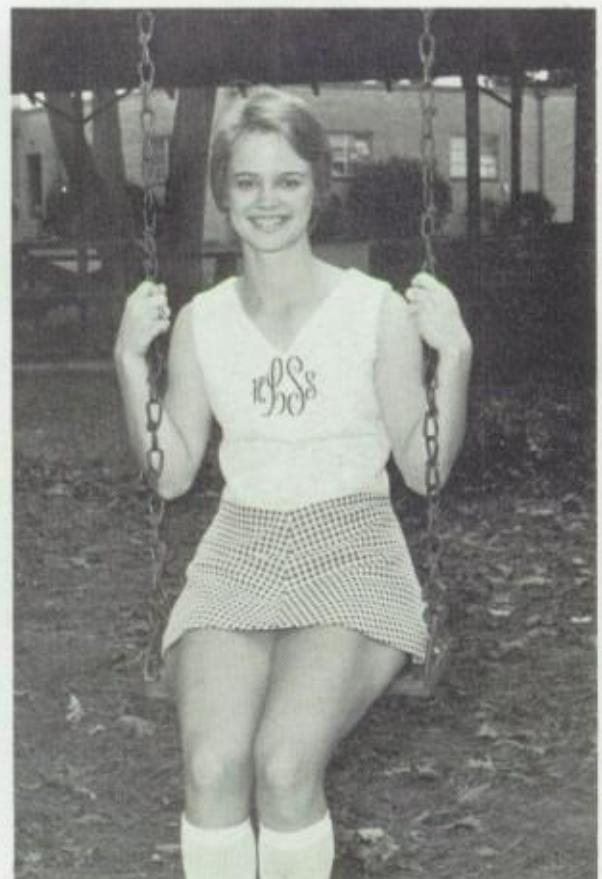

Being the first cheerleading squad, they spent much time and effort picking three different outfits. They were also involved in the traditional activities of feeding the team on Thursday and planning the Friday pep rallies.

After getting off to a slow start, the J.V. Lions came alive against Paulding County with a three point win. The only talent the J.V. Lions lacked was excessive rebounding. Although they didn't do as well as expected, experience was gained by all. Profiting most were the five starters. Major rebounders were Brent Mason and David Ellison. Hot on outside shooting was Lee Godwin and Nat Spraggins. To finish it off tough on defense was Jimmy Johnson. Equally talented players in both defense and offense were Mickey Wyatts, Mark Cowan, Max Partain, David Leathers, Kent Johnson, Don Forrester, and Kenny Reed.

Individual Efforts

The Men's Track Team consisted of 20 members and the Women's consisted of 6. The track team participated in meets and relays. Under the direction of Coach Rodney Davis, the team worked diligently after school everyday to make the Lithia Springs track program the best in the state.

Determine Team Position

Coach Willoughby led the Golf Team in 76 once again. The team built for the future with mainly ninth graders as members. Only two members have ever played school golf. Ryan Umphrey and Donnie Todd led the team because of their previous experience.

The tennis team was the first spring sport to hold tryouts. Thirty people showed up during the last of February at Hunter Park to compete for a position on the team. Eighteen players were selected. Only five members had previous school team experience.

Practicing twice a week and competing in eight matches, the team worked to develop a sound tennis program this year and for the future.

People are honored each year for displaying excellence in their particular field. The school continued the tradition, started at DCHS, of choosing a favorite teacher. A tie resulted this year when students selected from among eighty-three faculty members.

In the fall, upper classmen were chosen by the faculty to enter the competition for Governors Honors Program. After undergoing vigorous interviews, nominees in the various fields were selected to go to the state interviews.

The student who scores the highest of the Scholastic Aptitude Test received the title and prestige of being the school's Star Student. Gary Turner, LSHS first star student, then picked Ms. Charlotte Vogel as the teacher who most aided and inspired him.

Lithia Springs students won recognition in State wide competitions and National testing programs. Members of the LSHS band and Concert Choir competed against students from other districts for a position in the All-State Band and the All-State Choir. The top ten percent of the Junior class was acknowledged by becoming the University of Georgia Certificate of Merit winners.

LSHS hosted the VICA Skilled Olympics. An unprecedented six first places were awarded to members of the host club.

As was customary, many Seniors took the National Merit Scholarship test and The Betty Crocker test. Gary Turner and Irene Boykin received certificates to indicate they scored the highest in the school on the respective tests.

Involvement Increases

The school day did not end at 3:15 for a large number of students. Because there was no club period, students who became involved had to remain after school. Students scrambled to run for offices in the new clubs being formed. Try-outs for the auxillary units kept about 75 girls busy after school in January. Concerned students rallied to encourage taxpayers to prevent schools from closing in February.

Parade Stands Still

This year's Homecoming Parade had a new twist, it was completely stationary. Due to the fact the school had already participated in several parades connected with the bicentennial, a faculty committee voted to have only stationary displays. First place awards were won by DECA and the LSHS Chorus. Secondary awards were won by the DCHS Senior Class, LSHS Junior Class and the LSHS Chorus.

The Douglasville Centennial was celebrated in full force. There were many activites that revolved around this general theme. The activities ranged from a beauty contest to a barbecue. The Junior Centennial Pageant contained participants from every age group.

The Miss Skint Chestnut pageant and country fair were held to raise money for the band booster club.

Along with being Douglasville's 100th birthday, our country began celebrations for its 200th birthday. The students learned a great deal about the country's beginning in school activities. Among these activities were bicentennial minutes prepared by social studies classes.

Hang In There Babe, Friday's Coming

For the first time, students had wide choice of places to go on the weekends. A new Pizza Hut on Highway 5 competed with McDonalds as the popular place to meet on Friday night.

Though the newness of the skating rink had worn off, it still remained a pastime enjoyed by many students.

Fun was not confined to county limits. Students went outside the county to the movies, on shopping trips to Cumberland Mall and to concerts in Atlanta.

School Spirit excelled, with this being the first year at our new high school. Instead of the familiar chant "Go Big Blue", we began to chant "Go Big Green". Many activities were sponsored by the cheerleaders, including bonfires and spirit poster contests. The Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors, Seniors, and teachers all backed the teams with their continuous support.

Students carried their exuberant feelings connected with holidays to school. Before the Christmas Holidays, Valentines Day and on Halloween the school took on an air of festivity.

The auditorium was used for the first time for the Christmas assembly. The Christmas story was read by Ms. Linda Smith, the band and concert choir performed a medley of Christmas music and several teachers sang solos. After the program, students exchanged holiday greetings over coke and snacks.

Individually students used their initiative to get everyone in a holiday mood.

Chorus Depends On Leaders

The LSHS musical groups, under the direction of Ms. Carolen Hansard, gave quality performances this year in a variety of programs. The Concert Choir gained state wide recognition when they performed for the Georgia Legislature. This was the first visit for any choir in Douglas County. The Men's Glee Club was listed in the Georgia edition of the Stay and See America booklet.

A new pop group joined the ranks of the other choral groups. The "Four and Twenty" gave solo performances with the stage band.

A new yearbook staff, with only two experienced members, faced the difficult and sometimes frustrating task of producing the first yearbook for Lithia Springs High School. The decision of a new yearbook name was one of the problems they were faced with. Realizing the imprint their decision would have on future years, they asked the student body to contribute suggestions. The staff members learned the techniques of yearbook construction at a one week workshop in Georgetown, Kentucky, sponsored by Inter-Collegiate Press.

(2) Interested students attend the first Math Club meeting. (3) Many students share this sentiment. (4) The Math Club.

Along with a new school came new ideas. Among these was the idea of a Math Club. While having fun the Math Club was able to benefit the students by sponsoring a tutoring program, a Math Awareness Week, and a speaker on computer programming. Though these activities the students had the opportunity and enjoy the many aspects of the field of mathematics.

The Administration of LSHS had a big job this year. Not only did they have the regular duties of principals, but they had to organize and prepare for the opening of our new school. Working with them was Mr. Van Winkle, the contractor, who helped them work out difficulties that arose.

This group of men tried to instill student pride in their school and surroundings. As Mr. Shepherd said, "The school is the student's and the community's."

Excitement reigned in popular literature this year. Jaws by Peter Benchley and Alive by Piers Paul Read were among the favorites of the student body. Jaws dealt with the nature of the great white shark, and Alive concerned the nature of man and his survival after a plane crash. The students greatly enjoyed these stories of adventure.

Like all the departments, the English department sought to meet the students' requirements. For the first time, Senior Composition and Literature were offered at a general level, consequently, Seniors could take this subject as an elective.

With the move came a great number of new books which the teachers were glad to see. Text books for everyone was certainly a source of gratification after the limited amount while we were on double sessions. Furthermore, instructional materials such as paperback books and posters were made accessible and were of use to the instructors.

CLASSES

During the course of the year, Seniors are involved in projects to benefit the class as well as the school. This year, being the first graduating class, they decided to leave a gift for memoriam. They presented the school a coat-of-arms to be used on invitations and for other formal events.

163 to Graduate

In the fall quarter of this year, Seniors had a tough decision to make. They had to choose which school, DCCHS or LSHS, they wanted as their Alma Mater. With this in mind, students weighed the pros and cons of both establishments until mid-way through the quarter scheduling for the next twelve weeks brought their decision and worrying to an end.

The graduating Seniors were recognized again this year in the Senior night festivities. Members of the class of 1976 gathered early for the October game against Campbell of Smyrna. The class remained on the field to greet the football team and sing the Alma Mater.

Seniors Learn Child Care Skills

Seniors had the opportunity to select a class which taught them how to care for children. Many of them enrolled in this program in preparation for work in a day care center. Though girls were in the majority, a few boys did take this class. Their many duties involved preparing lessons and teaching the children, entertaining them, shopping for food and cooking their lunch and helping to solve their problems, the next best thing to a teacher.

Seniors Dine on Roast Rabbit

For extra credit, Mrs. Clark's Early English Literature classes participated in a Medieval Dinner held in the Burnett Elementary School Cafeteria. The forty-five Seniors who attended dined on such unusual dishes as rabbit roasted in syrup, boiled garlic, and a custard made of dried fruits, parsley, and bone marrow. This unique dinner brought Seniors into close touch with medieval culture.

Working Seniors

Often, high school Juniors and Seniors who want to work immediately following graduation begin through school oriented programs. ## Quartet Wins First Seniors looked forward to the special event of their last Homecoming. There they participated in and observed the many floats and displays which were exhibited. Among these was one entered by the Concert Choir. It featured a barber shop quartet that included three Seniors. Songs such as "Sweet Georgia Brown" and "The Old Blue Falcon" were sung. This entry was judged and received first place.

Taking a bow, David Wynn, Donnie Lindsey, Larry Gore, and Calvin Quinn receive applause from students viewing the homecoming displays.

After the drive from Teresa Coney's house where the float was kept, Renee Brown, Teresa Coney, Mark Perry and Julie Gee make minor repairs.

Patriotic Theme

During the week preceding the Homecoming game, the Seniors of both schools worked on a float to enter for judging in a contest held on Friday. This year the Class of 1976 chose red, white, and blue as their colors to create a bicentennial theme. They used such symbols as the Liberty Bell, the Declaration of Independence, and George Washington to express their theme: "The Spirit of '76."

Advanced Research

When students approached their Senior year, they had many events to look forward to; among which was Senior English. Questions such as "Is it very hard?" and will I be able to pass?" were often asked when scheduling time came. These courses involved not only writing a composition, but the advanced and in-depth research necessary for such a paper. The curriculum was constructed with the thought of preparing students for college.

Senior Profile

The 163 members of the class of 1976 had the honor of being the first class to graduate from Lithia Springs High School. The members of the class were asked why they decided to come here instead of continuing on at DCCHS. They gave many varied answers such as: "more of my friends coming," "lived closer to LSHS," "No transportation to DCCHS," "wanted to see what the new school would be like," "wanted to be the first graduating class."

Many of the Seniors plan to go to college or vocational school after graduation. Some plan to work or go into the Armed Forces. Some just plan to get married.

The Seniors were aware of many problems in the country such as the economic situation, the up-coming presidential election, America's involvement over-seas, and the bicentennial. They were also very concerned about the problems in their community. The school's possible closing was their main concern since it touched them personally.

Most were glad to be Seniors and to have the prestige that went along with it. They were glad to be getting out of school and to have those years behind them, but they were also hesitant. They were not really sure about their future and said they were going to miss their friends. They were not sure whether they were ready to make it on their own, but felt they had worked hard and deserved to be out.

GOOD-LUCK

The Junior class received many awards this year. During the Homecoming festivities, the Junior class shared in the decoration of a hall to show class spirit and received a third place award. The Homecoming parade was great this year, with the Juniors participating with a display. A second place award was won by the Juniors.

The Juniors are one of the most tested classes in the school. Again this year the PSAT was given to those members of the class who were preparing for college. This test was designed to inform those students of their ability in the fields of English and Mathematics. Also all Juniors took a state wide achievement test which defined the scholastic level they had attained.

Junior Projects

Require Funds

Motivated by the need to raise money for the prom and for club projects, Juniors engaged in many activities throughout the year. The Junior classes of both schools staged several dances in the Fall to raise money. Raffle tickets for a trip to the Bahamas were sold as another money making class project. Individually, Juniors were kept busy washing cars and selling doughnuts for various clubs.

Sophomore Spirit

After the last football pep rally, the Sophomore class was indisputably the class with the most spirit. Enthusiastic Sophomores generated enough noise to win the majority of the competition cheers at the seven pep rallies. They were only seriously challenged by the football team and the band.

Vocational Opportunities

For the first time in their high school careers, Sophomores were able to choose vocational studies. A new class, Health Occupations, proved to be a favorite among students. Class members were given an overview of the entire health field by making visits to hospitals, hearing guest speakers and attending lectures.

Utilizing new equipment, Greg Swafford takes Jeff Camps blood pressure.

Sophomores looked forward to the time when they reached their fifteenth birthday and could get their learner's license. Large numbers then enrolled in the Driver Education course. Approximately one hundred students were on roll for this popular course each quarter. By taking Driver Education, students could reduce the cost of the insurance on the car they dreamed of buying.

The Freshmen officers were chosen for the 1975-1976 school year before the Christmas holidays. Sponsored by Mr. Roger Curry and Ms. Jean Jones, Freshmen planned many activities for the year. A competition between Freshmen homerooms was planned to raise food for needy families in the area.

(1) Looking over a math problem Sherry Atkinson is deep in concentration. (2) In class, Marty Atchinson and Russell Phillips take notes. (3) Ms. Lockman tries to explain the hard techniques of arithmetic to Susan Holbrook. (4) The Freshmen class officers are, president, Zack Spencer; Vice-president, Karen Cole; secretary, Andrea Lane; treasurer, Annean Deal. Their sponsors were Mr. Roger Curry and Ms. Jean Jones.

Ninth graders were the prime movers in the Z 93 school spirit drive. Freshmen were seen around campus gathering signatures to prove DCCHS was the school with the most spirit in the metro area. Another activity which freshmen girls participated in was the Junior Majorette program. For the first time ninth grade majorettes were given training marching with the band.

Junior Majorette, Vickie Johnston performs at the Pep Rally as she does the routine to "Something For Cat".

Counting up signatures, Zach Spencer prepares to turn in his lists for the Z93 contest.

Quickly Freshmen were oriented to every aspect of high school life by students, administration, and faculty. All Freshmen English classes attended sessions conducted by the media center staff where rules and regulations were outlined. Three counselors worked individually with Freshmen to acquaint them with course offerings and schedule them in appropriate courses.

The majority of freshmen courses were designed to give students the skills and knowledge they would need for classes they would take as upperclassmen. Research Techniques was such an introductory course in science. It acquainted ninth graders with the use and function of lab equipment which was essential to other courses in the field.

Freshmen Experience Slave Week

This year, French Club members gathered for their traditional slave auction. There, first year French students were sold to old members as an initiation into the club. For the following week, Slave Week, these new members could be seen in unusual situations. The last day they were made to dress as the French character of their master's choice.

The bids go higher and higher as David Dugger is sold by Shea Davis.

Your Mission in Life
Through Chiropractic*

The tragedy of rudderless and wasted young lives coupled with the suffering of people of all ages with afflictions easily correctable through chiropractic have spurred us on to build, equip and staff a desperately needed chiropractic college. The purpose of Life chiropractic college is to train young people from all walks of life, not only to become skilled doctors of chiropractic, but also to become meaningful human beings whose innate goodness will touch and affect all who come in contact with them. (2 years college required for admission including 6 semester hrs. in both chemistry and biology.)

Robert Alexander dedicates L.S.H.S.

Admiring the new school are interested parents.

Making their debut at open house is the Lithia Springs "Four and Twenty".

Mr. Floyd Hendrix, Associate Superintendent of Curriculum.

L.S. Dedicated

Adding an extra highlight to the program, Keith Entrkin soles with "Sweet Caroline".

On Sunday, February 15, Lithia Springs High School officially declared their new identity as a separate high school. In a description of the construction, addressed to approximately 600 people, Robert Alexander dedicated the school. They were now ready to forge the beginning link in the chain of their existence.

Mr. Alexander thanked everyone connected with the building of the school. There immediately followed a tour of the new complex. Parents and other visitors felt as confused and turned around as did the students on their first day. The new "Four and Twenty" group gave a performance in the amphitheater. Refreshments were then served.

David Spruell and his parents converse with Ms. Jones.

Mr. Eugene Sheets, Associate Superintendent for Fiscal Affairs.

Mr. Marcus Daws, Administrative Assistant for Vocational Education.

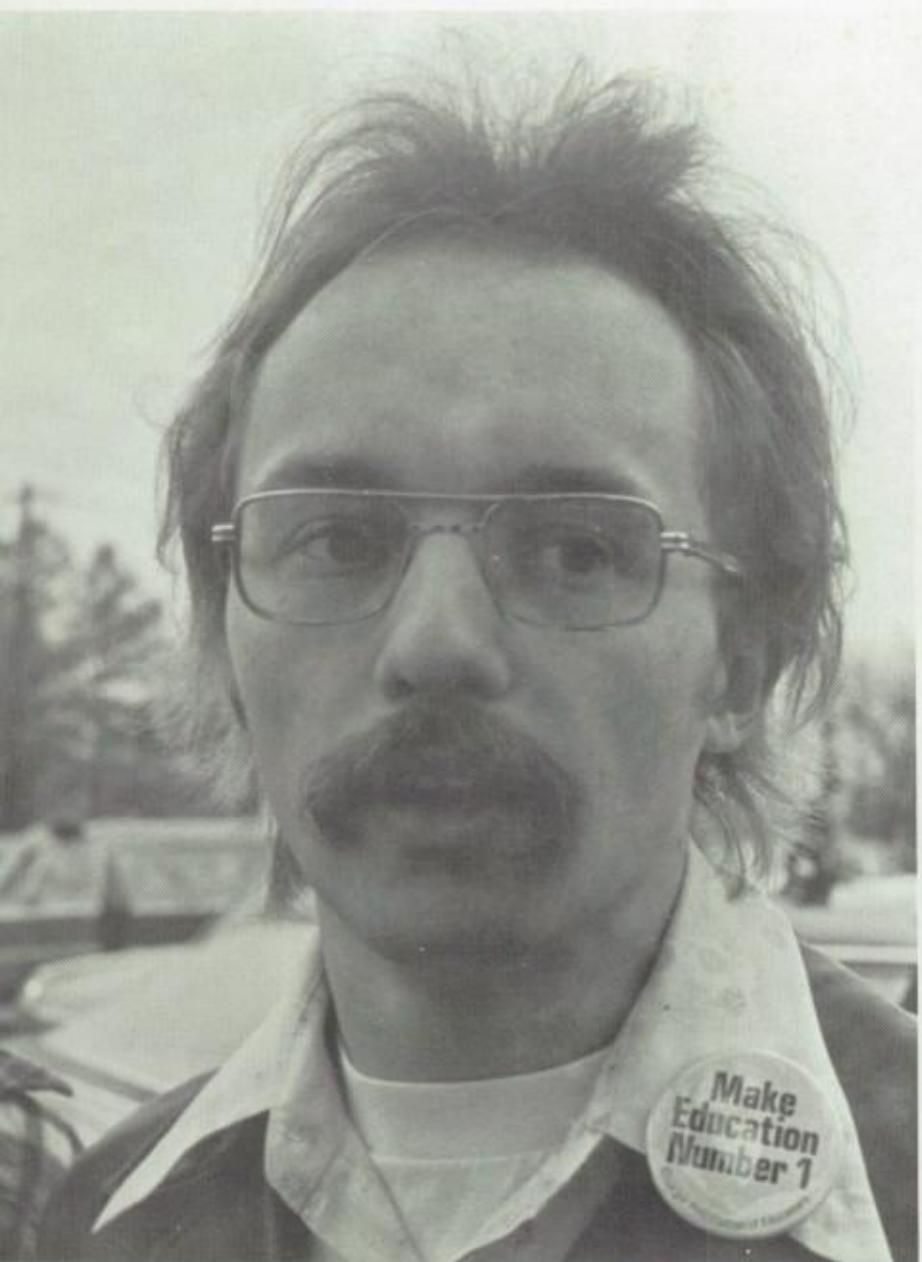

Senior class officers receive the official seal from Josten's.

Kim Leach, Marie Alexander, and Frank Carollo gather early at the front of the courthouse.

Alan Boyer aids students in rally.

Hey -Check Us Out !

GJAS members see a seminar film.

Lithia Springs students rally in protest against closing of the schools.

From December 1 on, a steady stream of visitors came to attend conferences and festivals and to view the largest high school under one roof in the Southeast. Coverage of student activities caused others to notice LSHS. The Student Council, presided over by Guy Spencer, brought the school into the limelight. With the threat of the schools being closed due to the lack of tax money, a rally and protest march were organized. Local television and radio stations, and newspapers covered it.

The debut of the football is the spring practice game against Douglas County.

Patricia Thornton, Joni Todd, Tommy Shelnutt, Debbie Saunders, and Mr. Boyer discuss the Student Council constitution.

That spring fever feeling leads Kyria Joyner, Kevin King, Sylvia Swafford and Pam Gardin to clamber around Factory Shoals.

Precedents Set

Preparing Valentine carnations keeps DECA club members Kim Cole and Sharon McAdams busy.

As the year progressed, many organizations sponsored projects that produced an air of belonging. Positive steps were taken toward establishing precedents. Everything seemed to be a first.

Our first student directory was published by the Sophomore class. The Student Council's Constitutional Committee worked hard on a document to provide a basis for the future. Our first football was played in the spring against Douglas County. With each activity, a link was added. Our chain continued to grow.

Members of the Political Awakening Club hope to generate interest in the Presidential election.

Coach Davis and Sylvia Wilson pack food and clothes for Guatemalan earthquake victims.

wonderful person and I hope it lasts for a long, long time

I'd love to be with you.
Tell Mr. Fawcett
about my school
over the summer vacation.

We of the 1975-1976 Chautauqua staff, have tried, in this year book, to record the happenings, the events, and memories of the school year. If, in linking the year together, we have stirred even one pleasant memory, we feel that we have succeeded.
